In declining the subpenas served upon them, Blease and Heflin took eringe in the provisions of the Constitution of the United States which resist.

"Senators and representatives shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to and from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place."

Senator Teffin explained last night that he had no intention of defying the court. As a matter of fact, he said, he had great respect for the court and stood ready to help it at any time. Later on, he said, if the grand jury should want to call him and ask him about any information he might come across, he would be perfectly willing to respond.

the fact that he had written to United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and had given him the name of the person who supplied him with his information on the Scrivener case, he did not think it would be necessary to appear before the grand jury.

He was particularly anxious to be in the Senate chamber yesterday, he said, so that he could vote in favor of ousting Senator-elect Vare.

Senator Blease had no comment to make yesterday on Justice Gordon's decision. On the day before, however, he had said that he did not think Gordon would be "so foolish" as to issue a contempt order. In announcing his refusal to obey the subpena on Thursday, Blease gave two explanations, both critical of the grand jury. In the first, he reiterated statements made in an earlier letter to Rover in which he declared it would be "nonsensical" to give any information to the present grand jury after the way it handled its investigation of the death of Mrs. Virginia McPherson.

Blease's other reason was that

The United State Legation recently notified Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, of America's intention of signing the protocols simultaneously. This notification reached Geneva immediately after President Hoover's message to Congress was delivered.

Although the league has been hold-ing back because of Washington's alowness in carrying out its promise to sign, made by the State Department sign, made by the State Department to the International Conference of World Court members during the September assembly, Monday's fulfillment of that promise will be followed by league pressure upon Albania, Abyasinia and Lithuania—three members of the court which have thus far not signed either protocol.

Senate Finance Committee Gets Tax Slash Bill Today

Report Early Next Week Is Hoped But Senators Be come Involved in Argument About Its Precedence Over Tariff Measure.

Facing an uncertain future on the tariff-embattled Senate, the $160,000.000 tax reduction resolution will be considered today by the Senate in ance committee with a view to reporting approval of it early next week. Senator Watson, of Indians, the Republican leader, announced last night that if the resolution gets before the Senate environment of 1929 incomes are due. Senator Watson, of Indians, the resolution senator watson in revenue legislation, has contended the tax cut must await a decision first by the Senate to amend the resolution to reduce to the tariff.

Leaders of the various factions in the Senate will determine sentiment over the week-end recess on the procedure for the tax and tariff measures and also on suggestions for modifications of the tax proposal. Senator Simmons already has assured the administration of his support of the $160,000,000 cut, along with Democratic leaders of the House. VICTIM SUFFERS RELAPSE TAX CUT MAY SHELVE IT

Wet, cold, sleepy and baffled, several hundred men abandoned search tonight for Sheriff A. W. Nealey, who had in his custody Tom Gunn, Negro le charged with stabbling and attempting to attack a 13-year-old white girl.

The crowd dispersed about 7:30. At the same time, it was announced that the girl had suffered a relapse and was in a serious condition at her father's home, near here. She was cut badly about the chin and body by a Negro yesterday, who fled when the girl's screams attracted attention of two white men.

Cleveland, Ohlo, Dec. 6 (A.P.).—
Three men were killed and two others injured, one seriously, in three railroad accidents on the east and west side late today. Switch engines struck and killed two men, while the third was mutilated beyond recognition when hit by a Nickel Plate Railroad work train.

The dead are:

Peter Glowasky, 26: John Taross. 59, and an unidentified man. Otto Trajvall, 40, was seriously injured and J. F. Sawyer, 36, suffered minor couts and bruises when the flat car on which they were riding was derailed by a split switch.

Glowaski was crushed to death between the engine tender and the flat car in the same accident.

A backing switch engine killed Taross instantly. Taross is believed to have stepped into the engine's path.

legistation commenced, zeasous prohibitionists are preparing for a show-down.

The Sheppard bill to prohibit the purchase of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes will be the test. This measure, introduced by the senior senator from Texas, is consecting drastic, but a survey of the House and Senate shows that, if a clear-cut issue can be made on that proposition with the question of constitutionality aliminated, the votes will be in the House, for the bill, 300; against, 135; in the Senate, for, the bill, 72; and, against, 24.

The Sheppard bill, as now framed, provides that "no person shall manufacture, purchase, sell, barter, transport, import, export, deliver, furnish or possess any intoxicating liquor executive provisions of this act shall be liberally construed to the end that the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage may be prevented."

Members Dislike Issue.

Members Dislike Issue.

Many members of Congress, who vote dry when the roll is called, will try to keep from going on record on this proposal. Some of the ablest prohibition lawyers of the House and Senate believe that, if enacted, the Sheppard amendment to the enforcement act would be held unconstitutional, and instead of helping, burt tional, and instead of helping, hurt the cause.

The real fight will come over the question of forcing a vote. For the last ten years fanatical leaders have found it difficult to line up the drys for final consideration of bills. The Jones measure hung fire for a long time, but once its supporters forced a vote, the result was certain.

Senstor Sheppard has counted noses and is sure of a decisive victory if he can have roll calls on this proposal.

Strong Opposition Looms.

Strong Opposition Looms.

Determined opposition will have to be battered down before the Senate votes on the Sheppard amendment. The absence of former Senators Bruce, of Maryland; Reed, of Missouri; Edge and Edwards, of New Jersey, will be felt by opponents of the measure, but Senators Tydings, of Maryland; Hawes, of Missouri; Copeland and Wagner, of New York, and Walsh, of Massachusetts, will endeavor to prevent a vote.

The two Montana senators were freed from the prohibition obligation by a contest in their State resulting in a wet majority. Senator Walsh is a prohibitionist and has been for years, but in the ooming contest he would use his own judgment. Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, has not announced his position, but it is underatood he doubts the constitutionality of the Sheppard bill.

Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, a physician, who repeatedly protested against long meeting hours during consideration of the tariff in the special session, objected to Watsons unanimous consent request, saying he did not propose to have Senators "stay in this vine atmosphere" any longer than necessary.

In a general assault on the wool schedule, known politically 20 years ago as the famous "Schedule K," Senator Blaine, Republican, Independent, Wisconsin, asserted this rate section for years had been framed to "conceal the facts."

He contended that no matter now high the tariff was placed on wool, the grower would receive but little benefit since consumers almost refused to buy when wool prices rose and turned to substitutes.

The Alabama decision is purely a State law and does not apply to the volstead act in any way," Doran said. "It is purely a State affair with which the Federal Government has no connection and the decision could not be used by the Federal dovernment even if we wished."

Doran has said that activities of the Prohibition Bureau were made to comply with decisions of the Supreme Court and that interpretations placed upon State laws could not change the procedure in enforcing the national prohibition laws.

At that time, according to Pugh's story, he was mortally wounded. The chauffeur 'said a few other things,' that the attorney general is investigating. Sheriff Hubbs said "the investigation will go on." The private detective said he believed the mystery was solved, while Chief of Police Brush had nothing to say.

The sheriff said late today Pugh was taken to Dyersburg for safekeeping before he confessed, but the Dyer County sheriff and the jailer said he was not there.

"The Sun Oil Co. has committed itself to the policy of establishing a model plant, which will set a standard for appearance in this section. The corresponding shore in Georgetown is actually used for wharfage and always will be so used, so why should the District of Columbia attempt to deprive us of equal advantages which are rightfully ours? The park plans for the remainder of the Potomac shore—that is, to the west—will in no way be affected. On the contrary, they will be assisted in two ways: By increased taxable values and by reducing the total cost of the park project through eliminating the most expensive ground to be obtained.

Hariand, while recommending the experiment, expressed doubt as to whether it would better the present system, and he contended that traffic moves no slower in Washington than in other cities of equal or larger size. He also criticized the suggestions of Bibbins to have all the signal lights controlled by a single master timer as is done in Ohleago, declaring that he had had a careful inspection made of the Pittsburgh system, one of the newest, and found the central control discarded.
Bibbins in his report at a previous meeting of the council had asserted that Washington autolists do not actually obtain the high rate of speed indicated on charts by which the lights are regulated. The actual speed in the downtown section is between 10 and 15 miles an hour or lower, he said. This allegation was denied last night by Harland in his lengthy reply.

Complying with the request of the council. Bibbins and Harland had prepared an estimate of the cost of the change in the signal system, and this formed the basis of the move to try the exheriment. Bibbins estimated that approximately $200 would be required for each intersection to make the change, not taking into account the engineering survey that must precede the work, as the new equipment can be for the most part added onto the present signals.

Taking 100 intersections as a basis, which he said would cover the four main arteries of the Capital, Bibbins estimated that $25.000 would be needed to install the flexible progressive system. This would include Sixteenth sirect, between I and Newton; Massachusetts avenue, between Tenth and Twenty-second, and K street, between Tenth and Eighteenth.

"I feel that a great injustice has been done my State and myself. It is to be regretted that the highest body in the land should so trampie upon the Constitution and treat so lightly the rights of my State."

Bingham Protest Squelched.

That was the statement of Senator-elect Vare, but that informal "like a big burlesque" that was the Vare that the Senate got at.

An added climax was given the case when Senator Hiram Bingham arose in his seat and protested that the Senate had no right to enter into a unanimous consent agreement Thursday to vote yesterday as it did, and everybody observed: "Now! watch him put his foot in it."

He did. Senator Robinson pointed out that all the leaders on both sides of the chamber were present—that is, all save Leader Bingham, and then suggested that the matter be not further discussed. It wasn't. Senator Smoot, after the fashion of the song leader in church, nervously fumbled his tariff papers and said: "We will turn to page 378".

MISS DORIS DEWEY DAY, who will take the title role in the play, "Mollusc," to be presented by the Montgomery Players December 7 at the Bethesda-Chevy Chase dria City Council, and Wallace Lawrence, City Manager of Alexandria.

One of the features of the program was the announcement that Samuel Insuli, of the Insuli Interests, would address the gathering over the radio, from Chicago, as he was prevented from attending, and the beginning was a most dignified greeting which developed into a take-off on the principal guests, and proved to be Francis H. Fannon talking through a loud speaker from the balcony in the hotel.
Several akits were put on by the Vapsog, Blackbirds—Noran F. Lawler, Clinton Parker, Robert Ross and Raymond Wolford, and a duet was sung by the Misses Pendergrass, accompanied by Mrs. George E. Warfield.

The committee in charge of the affair was introduced—Elliott F. Hoffman, M. J. O'Connell, Robert G. Whitton, Géorge F. Downham, aGrdner L.

Roy Limerick, a Federal prisoner at the City Jail, is suffering from a severe cut on the head caused, according to jail officials, by his falling from a cot and striking his head against a radiator. He is being treated by Dr. Llewellyn Powell and Dr. O. A. Ryder, who at first thought he might have sustained a fractured skull, but now state his condition is somewhat improved.

Fuel Burning Plants.

Fuel Burning Plants.

There is a decided abatement in the hydroelectric development, he said, in pointing out that the principal source of electric power supply is from fuel burning plants.

In 1929 2,500,000 horsepower was added to the capacity of electric utilities, of which 90 per cent was in fuel burning plants, according to Clapp. This situation is due largely, he averred, to the improvement in efficiencies of steam generation with interconnection and large scale production.

Diminution of the hydroelectric course of supply he attributed to strides made in reducing the production costs of power from fuel-burning companies and the decline in the output of hydro plants caused by water shortage. In nine years, he said, the efficiency methods in use in fuel plants have saved 180 million tons of coal.

Resolutions commending President Hoover for his "signal industrial leadership" were adopted by the convention. The measures exhorted all branches of the mining industry unitedly to commend the President for his leadership.

It was the sentiment of the conference that his "aggressive action in calling together all business leaders of the country has brought about a Nation-wide cooperation never before attempted in time of peace. In this way he has allayed fear and restored national confidence." The convention pledged their to aid in carrying out the national industrial policies.

The early session yesterday was devoted to the exposition of mechanization in the industry. A meeting of the board of directors was held at noon at which officers were chosen. The afternoon sessions were given over to discussion of new schemes and ideas in the industrial progress of mining.

NEW CIRCLE CHURCH IS ASSET TO CAPITAL

National City Christian Body Will Have Fine Edifice When Completed.

DEDICATION IN AUTUMN

The latest beautiful addition to the handsome churches of Washington will be the National City Christian Church, no win process of erection on Thomas Circle between Massachusetts avenue and Fourteenth street.

nue and Fourteenth street.

The corner stene of the building will be laid Wednesday, the structure will be completed the first of September and the church will be dedicated in October. 1930, during the international and world convention of the Disciples of Christ, in this city. The new church takes the place of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church.

The site of the building approximates an acre of ground and the building proper, of early American architecture and Indiana limestone construction, is 200 feet long; sets tack 30 feet from the curb; is 75 feet wide, and its height to the roof line is 75 feet. A tower 30 feet square rises 100 feet above the roof line.

A main exterior feature of the aquare rises 100 feet above the roof line.

A main exterior feature of the structure is an ionic portice of ten columns. 4 feet in diameter and 36 feet high, fronting the building and approached by a long flight of steps. the main floor of the building being situated 18 feet above the sidewalk. The interior will contain a large auditorium seating 1,000 persons. It will have marble wainscoting and ornamental plastering. The pulpit is directly in front of the choir seating 50 persons, and back of the choir is a circular wall. A marble baptistry is at one side of the chancel and the pulpit at the other, a communion table being in the center. The pastor's study and various offices are located in the rear of the choir. The auditorium is reached through a large vestibule about 25 by 50 feet in dimensions.

"Beloved son:

"The Archbishop of Baltimore, extolling your merits in the strongest terms, informs us that with singular zeal you rule the parish of St. Matthew in Washington, your church being noted for the attendance of Catholic diplomatic and government officials; that in the spirit of Christian piety you have founded two institutions for the aged poor; that you are active in seconding the work of the propagation of the faith, and that your qualities of mind and heart have earned for you the deepest respect both of clergy and of laity.

"Wherefore we are pleased to grant the desire of your archbishop and to confer on you a special mark of the pontifical favor whereof you are on every account worthy. Hence by these letters we choose, constitute and proclaim you an urban prelate—that is, a prelate of our household—and we grant you the privilege of wearing the purple and, even in the Roman Curla, the rochet, and likewise the use and enjoynent of all honors, privileges, prerogatives and indults which other ecclesiatics of this rank use and enjoy or are able or will in future be able to use and enjoy, all provisions to the contrary notwithstanding.

IF.W. SOHON NAMED FOR TONDORF POST

Astronomy Chief at Hilltop Succeeds Late Director of Seismology.

WAS FORDHAM TEACHER

Announcement was made at Georgetown University last night of the appointment of Rev. Frederick Wyatt Sohon, S. J., astronomer and earthquake expert, as director of the Georgetown Seismological Observatory, a position vacated recently by the death of the Rev. Francis A. Tondoorf, S. J., who was director for nearly a quarter of a century. Father Sohon came to Georgetown this year to take charge of the Astronomical Observatory after engaging in similar research in some of the largest observatories of Europe. He is well qualified to assume charge of the earthquake recording instruments by reason of previous similar experience at Fordham University.

In 1923-4 at Fordham he had charge of the seismograph observatory and constructed a new building to house a Millne-Shaw instrument, and became familiar with this photographic machine and studied the Galitzin instrument, with which the Georgetown observatory is equipped. These are the most delicate known to that belence and require expert knowledge in their handling.

Father Sohon, in 1925, studied astronomy at Valkenburg, Lumberg, Holland, and the following year under the noted Dr. Hertzstrung at Geiden University. In the summer of 1928 he did astronomical research work at the Ebro Observatory, in Spain, under Father Rodes, widely known authority, and in the fall of 1928 he studied at Manresa University, in Spain, He is a member of the Astronomische Gesellschaft, a famous European scientific society, and attended its congresses at Copenhagen, Denmark, and at Heidelburg, in 1928 and 1927.

Father Sohon is a graduate of Columbia University in the School of Chemical Engineering. Upon graduating in 1915 he taught mathematics and French at Holy Cross College, and entered the Jesuit Order in 1916, teaching at St. Andrew-on-the-Hudson, Poughkeepsie, until 1921. He has an A. B. and A. M. degree from Woodstock College, the Jesuit House of Studies, near Baltimore.

ERENCH NAVAL DEMANDS.

France will demand the right to greatly increase her naval strength at the coming London naval limitation conference. According to dispatches from Paris, the Tardieu government will not only refuse to be bound by Anglo-American ratio proposals, but will contend that France's naval needs are greater than those of America, and that the French navy should therefore have the right to outrank that of the United States. The French navy department estimates that a total fighting tonnage of between 800,000 and 900,000 tons will be needed for adequate national defense.

Coincident with this move for French naval expansion, Foreign Minister Briand has transmitted to the Italian Ambassador at Paris a note setting forth a preliminary outline of the French naval policy. It does not categorically deny Italy's claim to parity with France, but it shows that Italy's requirements for naval defense are not comparable with those of France, and it indicates that the extent of French naval expansion will be guided to some extent by the Italian program. Impliedly, France is ready to exceed her preconceived expansion program unless Italy's building program is sufficiently restricted to assure overwhelming French superiority.

The suggested French demand for superiority over the United States indicates that France does not expect to see actual parity between Great Britain and America emerge from the conference. America is not even to hold second place, for France aims to be second to Great Britain. The reasons given for demanding a greater navy than that of the United States are based on the length of the French coast line, the extent of French foreign trade, the necessity of protecting distant French colonies and the exposed position of France to naval attack. As stated by Jacques Bainville in the Press:

Nobody and nothing threatens the United States. What physical, moral or political necessity then, enjoins that it should have as many, or more ships than Great

This is the first symptom of uneasiness on the part of a European power over the suggested Anglo-American parity, and does not harmonize with the French view that such parity is really not to be expected. Apparently the French are suspicious of the possibility of Anglo-American parity even though they anticipate that it will not materialize.

It has been clear for some weeks that the MacDonald suggestions of an Anglo-American entente or moral alliance have aroused French suspicions to the point of demanding an expansion rather than a limitation of French naval forces. Until the British government scrapped the Anglo-French entente the British navy was regarded by Frenchmen as a potential protection at the disposal of an ally in time of need. Obviously, the British navy is no longer viewed in this light.

France sees in the Anglo-American parity suggestion a possibility of virtually doubling the strength of a navy at the disposal of two allied powers, controlled by a joint policy of enforcing an Anglo-American conception of international justice in all parts of the world. So far as Europe is concerned France apparently distrusts this possible arrangement, and proposes to take program to the extreme limit. Disclaimers by Great Britain and the United States as to any intention of joint Anglo-American policy are not accepted by France, and each reference to "joint Anglo-American" action, whether in Manchuria or elsewhere, convinces France as well as other powers that they have good ground for suspicion and distrust.

It will greatly add to the difficulties at the London conference if France and Italy should insist upon expansion instead of limitation. French expansion naturally means that Britain will follow a like policy. But each government is certain to be guided at the conference by its own needs and its own national public opinion, and Philip Snowden has taught French statesmen the value of placing national needs above international pressure at conferences of the powers.

NAVAL ADVISERS.

The naval officers who have been selected as advisers to the American delegates to the London naval conference are experts in their respective lines, and some of them are well qualified to advise the American delegation on any point that may arise. Rear Admirals Pratt, Jones, Yarnell, Moffett, Pringle and Hepburn will bring to the conference a wealth of naval experience, practical knowledge and detailed information touching all the leading navies.

If the advice and information furnished by these officers is heeded by the American delegation no agreement will be consummated that would be unfair to the United States. The right of the United States to have a navy equal in strength and efficiency to the British navy will not be sacrificed if these officers are consulted and their advice taken.

It is an absurdity to hold an international conference affecting the size of navies and then to debar naval experts as negotiators. But that is the plan that has been adopted for the London conference, and all the nations except Japan are expected to exclude naval experts as negotiators. Japan will have a rear admiral among its negotiators. but he will go in the capacity of "statesman." As a statesman he can give good heed to his counsel as a naval expert, to the great advantage of his country.

Fortunately the Secretary of the Navy, Charles Francis Adams, will be one of the negotiators for this country. Supported as he will be by the counsel of capable officers of the Navy, it is not to be presumed that he will give countenance to political proposals that might place the United States Navy at a disadvantage in comparison with other

ENVOYS TO LATIN AMERICA.

President Hoover's keen interest in Latin-American affairs has been manifest ever ince his election. His South American tour helped to center his attention on the neighboring republics. He is anxious to foster good will and closer relationships with those ountries. Extension of air mail service to South America to facilitate communication between the two continents has his support. His appointment of trained men to head American diplomatic missions to those coun tries is another move to cement the ties of inter-American friendship.

The President's annual message gave no ice that trained diplomats who speak the language of the country to which they are ent would be appointed to these positions. He has chosen men who are not only edu cated in diplomacy, but who have had ex perience in Latin-American affairs. It is eported that he contemplates other changes n which competent men will be placed in key positions.

Efficient representation of this Nation in foreign country requires extensive training. By recognizing men who are devoting their lives to the service, the President helps to develop a diplomatic corps that can be really useful, and not merely ornamental.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The nomination of Col. Patrick J. Hurley o succeed the late James W. Good as Secretary of War will meet with general approval. As Assistant Secretary of War, Col. Hurley has been able to obtain a keen insight into the functioning and organization of the department he is now to administer. With nany important matters pending, the administration and the country may count themselves fortunate that there was available for nomination to the post a man of experience who will not have to devote months to familiarizing himself, with the administrative details of the office. Col. Hurley is a veteran of the World War, in which he served with signal distinction. He is a native of Oklahoma, and is confirmation will secure for the South the Cabinet representation for which it has een clamoring. In addition, Col. Hurley has long been an ardent advocate of extensive inland waterway development, and he can be depended upon to cooperate neartily in the President's plan for major expansion along these lines The Secretary of War should always possess practical administrative and legal experience. He must be an executive of the first class. Col. Hurley's training and experience have been such as to indicate that he fills these specifications. congratulates him on his nomination.

BETTER FARM CONDITIONS

Since agriculture has occupied a very important position in the public affairs of the country during the past year, unusual interest attaches to the annual report of Secretary Hyde. This report touches upon almost every branch of agriculture and shows steady progress in all directions.

Widespread drought reduced crop yields materially, but prices advanced to such an extent that total income will probably exceed that of last year. It is estimated that the gross farm income will amount to $12,527, 000.000, a gain of $225,000,000 over the presteps to safeguard her interests by re- ceding year. Return earned on current valtaining the right to expand her naval uation of agricultural property has risen from 1.4 per cent in 1921-22 to 4.7 per cent The wheat crop was smaller, but yielded a larger income. Revenue from the live stock industry was increased by $93,pooling their navies in pursuance of a 000,000. Dairying maintained a stable position. The value of agricultural property is gradually increasing, but increases are also noted in operating costs and in farm taxes.

The flow of farm population to the cities continues, though not as rapidly as in previous years. A total of 1,960,000 persons left the farms last year, but a considerable migration from the cities leaves the net farm loss at only 598,000 individuals. Farm opulation has been reduced from 32.076. 060 in 1910 to 27,511,000 at the beginning of this year. Closely allied with this adjustment is a rapid growth in mechanical power on the farms. With this aid the American agricultural worker produces from two to five times as much as the farm hand in Europe.

In spite of the falling off in production exportation of agricultural products increased approximately 2 per cent for the year. Crops valued at $1,847,567,000 were shipped

What effect the Federal Farm Board's program has had upon the agricultural situation this year is difficult to estimate. The general influence seems to have been helpful, but the activities of the board are of such a nature that their effectiveness can be judged best over a period of years.

Nature was kind to the farmer this year. Weather conditions put a limit on production throughout the country. But the danger of overproduction still confronts the agricultural industry. For this there is no practical remedy save voluntary limitation. "And the place to curtail," says Secretary Hyde, 'is where returns are lowest." The department is trying to get marginal and submarginal lands out of cultivation and "relieve the industry of the depressing effect of misdirected effort and misplaced farms." The continued restoration of agriculture seems to depend upon the success of these efforts.

RAILROADS HOLDING RAILROADS.

Inasmuch as railroad holding companies ave been in existence for some time and the Interstate Commerce Commission has nade little or no effort to establish its auhority in respect to their regulation, the ommission's appeal to Congress for new egislation along these lines may be regarded s a bit tardy. The commission mentions specifically the Alleghany Corporation, which s fathered by the Van Sweringen interests. and the Pennroad Corporation, the stock of which is held by officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad. These companies have been acquiring the stock of certain key-roads in the onsolidation program and, although they have made no effort to operate them, the mere factor of ownership has played a part in influencing operating policies and unquestionably will be an influence in the permanent disposition of the properties when the partition of territory is accomplished.

The interstate commerce act contemplates unification of the carriers according to a carefully worked out, comprehensive plan. The various holding companies have not and can not follow a comprehensive plan. They are interested only in roads that will strength en the position of their parent companies, and they acquire such roads whether the public nterest dictates that they be awarded to another system or not. Thus the activities of he holding companies threaten to interfere with the orderly consolidation of the roads.

The Clayton act specifically prohibits railcoads from acquiring control of competing lines without the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Whether or not this prohibition applies with equal force to raiload holding companies has not been determined, nor will it be until the commission itself takes a test case into court. Why does he commission delay taking this action? The railroads themselves are entitled to know whether or not the holding companies are in violation of the law.

A PROSPERITY BAROMETER.

Attendance at motion picture theaters provides an index to the economic situation of the average person. If there were depression the average individual would first. curtail his outlay for amusements, and since the movies provide entertainment to the masses their attendance records may be looked upon as an economic barometer. When Will Hays told the business conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce the other day that attendance in motion picture theaters today as compared with a year ago has increased 15,000,000 a week, or 15 per cent, he said, in effect, that the average individual is not affected by the Wall street slump.

The motion picture industry has had a anner year. It was able to increase its capital investment in 1929, as compared with 1928, approximately 20 per cent. To conduct normal operations, meet the new conditions necessitated by the advent of vocal films and provide for the increased demand it was necessary to increase the number of employes, as compared with 1928, 26 per cent in production, 9 per cent in distribution and 11 per cent in theater operation The total expenditure in 1929 on account of production increased 22 per cent, on account of distribution, 14 per cent, and on account of theater operation 14 per cent. Sixty per cent more was spent for theater construction and purchase and 29 per cent more for theater alteration and repair.

In the first six months of 1930 the industry expects to expand further. The number of employes in production will be increased 8 per cent; in distribution, 5 per cent, and in theater operation, 1 per cent. Total expenditure for production will be inreased 15 per cent. Since the pictures produced in the last six months are held to be of extraordinarily high quality, and they will be exhibited during the first six months of 1930, further substantial increases in attendance are confidently expected.

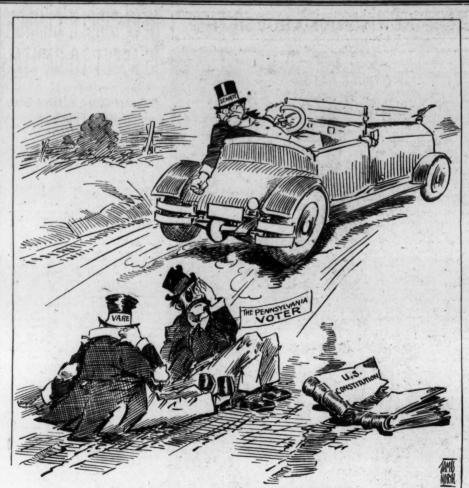

So long as the movies are prosperous, there is every reason to believe that the average man is prosperous. Will Hays' report, therefore, is of more than academic interest.

Yesterday you asked if you could have a little party for Bobby and Edna. I knew they would be at home only one night, but I also knew they were your buddies. It seemed natural that you should wish to be together.

THESE men gathered about Mr.
Arnold and not a drop of sentiment was in their blood. They talked in the low gutteral tones of the bread-seekers. And no words were wasted and no sentences were embellished. They stood by their naked little selves, each one the ing and shrill, like the factory whistle that tells you when to come to work and when to get off.

Nowhere was there any art at all.

OFFICIALS WILL RESIGN AUDIENCE TO BE OPEN

ernment went down in a decisive defeat tonight when the Sejm or Diet sustained a motion of lack of confidence by a vote of 248 to 120.

The vote followed upon a lengthy debate in which Premier Switalsky, four of his ministers and numerous deputies participated. Announcement of the vote was received with tremendous cheering by the opposition. It was understood that the government would resign and would be reconstituted in a manier calculated to appease the opposition. It was generally supposed that the premier and minister of labor would not be included in the new cabinet.

Populace is Indifferent.

Populace is Indifferent,
Warsaw took the political upheaval calmly. The people in general seemed indifferent to the proceedings in the Diet. The police had been equipped with tear gas grenades, gas masks and riffes as a precaution, but the city was unusually.
Premier Switalsky formed his government only last April. The diet opened yesterday more than a month behind schedule. Speaker Daszynski had declined to open the session when it assembled on October 31, because Marshal Pilsudski, minister of war, had appeared in parliament attended by several officers of the army. It was charged that their presence was intended to intimidate the deputies.
During November President Moccicki attempted to make peace between the marshal and the speaker.

Be Presented by King at Vatican Throne.

this week in an atmosphere of high ceremony and meetings of state.

Yesterday King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena paid their first visit to Pope Pius. Tomorrow Crown Prince Humbert and his sisters, Princesses Gióvanna and Maria, accompanied by the king, will also visit the Pontifi to mark the settlement of the Roman question and the end of discord between the House of Savoy, and the Holy See.

tween the House of Savoy, and the Holy See.

The ceremony tomorrow will be as simple as that which accompanied the visit of the king and queen, and will be significant in extending friendly relations with the Papacy to the whole House of Savoy.

The crown prince and the princesses will drive to the Vatican from the Quirinal Palace along the route followed by the king and queen. Their procession will be private until it reaches the Castel Sant'Angelo, where it will become official.

Precautions for Prince.

Thousands of persons who know the route to be followed are preparing to post themselves at advantageous points to see the royal group go by.

Special precautions have been taken to assure the safety of Prince Humbert.

The ceremonial for the reception at the Vatican will not be so elaborate as that for the welcome of the king and the queen, but as Humbert is the heir to the throne, it will be more elaborate than usual in receiving a royal prince.

The visitors will be met at the Vatican City border by the governor of the city. Commendatore Serafin, and the papal gendarmes' band will play the royal march. In the courtyard of San Damaso, they will receive another reception from ecclesiastics, members of the papal court and of the papal nobility.

The Pope will await them in the throne room.

The king will present the crown prince first, and then Giovanna, thet. Maria. The king and the Pope will exchange greetings without forma-

White House

By JEAN ELIOT.

HE President and Mrs. Hoover have sent out invitations for dinner on December 18. Although, in accordance with White House custom, no guests of honor are named, the dinner is presumably being arranged in compliment to the distinguished statesmen who will represent Japan at the London naval conference, Mr. Wataksuki and Mr. Takarab, the latter Japan's naval minister.

They are due to arrive in Washington on December 16 and the first function at the White House to follow the close of the period of official mourning will be, seemingly, a dinner in their

Not only were official functions at the White House canceled until December 18, but the President and Mrs. Hoover have cut down materially on the number of-those informal and more or less personal parties, which they so greatly enjoy. Since Secretary Good's death they have never had more than two or three guests to dine. The nearest thing to a party which can be recalled is the farewell dinner for Senator Edge before he set sail to assume his new duties as United States Ambassador to France. And even in that instance the guests were limited to the handful of dignitaries who will be on the United States delegation to the arms conference. All this, however, is another story.

The Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Debuchi will launch a round of official entertaining in honor of the Japanese delegates with their dinner on the evening of December 17- As at the White House dinner. Jadies will be included among the yuests at this fete.

Mr. Joseph W. Ballantine, of the Far Eastern Division of the State Department, has been deputized by Secretary Stimson to meet the Japanese delegates in Seattle and to escort them across the continent—in their own tongue, as it were. He was for several years "Japanese secretary" of the American Embassy in Tokyo, that is to say, Japanese speaking attache, and has a fluent and idiomatic command of the delegates native tongue. Mr. Baliantine was born in India of, American parents and is ght Amherst man. High officials of the Navy Department will also greet Mr. Takarabe in Seattle.

Announcer (explaining to radio audience)—"These six-day bicycle riders must eat something each time they get off their bicycles if it is only a plate of prunes. The principal thing is to guard against overeating. They work up a terrible appetite pushing those bicycles 24 hours a day." (Again addressing the bike rider) "Who is the best man out there"

Bike rider—"MonNamara. He is an iron man. The harder he falls the better he gets up."

Announcer (finishing with bike rider)—"That pistol shot you just heard was for the 2:30 a. m. sprints. We will now watch them for a while."

Photographs should be tinted, not painted—and by following directions any one can do it!

on me that painting photographs did not require a great deal of artistic skill, but instead simply required the knowledge of how to go about it! And I believe that with just a little practice and the knowledge of just what paints to buy and how to apply them, any little lady who is at all clever with her fingers could color photographs as well, if not better, than the one she can have colored by some one else!

Mistakes Can Be Wiped Off.

Mistakes Can Be Wiped Off.

Coloring a photograph is not painting a portrait, you should realize.

And it should logically occur to you at once, if you have been following our Coin de Coleur notes, that you need transparent colors to do it.

Opaques are thick and will entirely obliterate the photograph—even though one of the nicest things about this kind of work is that you can Paris, Dec. 6.

Focurse we all do! We enjoy a really good photograph of our-dipped in turpentine or gasoline! Soft Tinting Is Secret.

Soft Tinting Is Secret.

Remember that since the photograph itself has all the expression it needs, the coloring is a matter of tinting. Never under any circumstances attempt to definitely outline eyebrows or eyelashes, for instance, or give a sharp, hard, painted expression to the lips. Soft tinting throughout, that's the secret.

Yes, you have guessed it—next week's illustrated leaflet tells you exactly how to color photographs yourself! No, you don't have to be an artist—yes, you do have to be very careful—yes, it requires a little practice—no, you won't spoil a lot of good photographs! 'Scuse me for reading your mind like this, but I'm getting all your questions answered. All the information you will need you will find in the illustrated leaflet, for which you just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. I'll bet when you read the leaflet you will graph your paint brush and go at this business of tinting photographs with deft strokes.

And think what delightful Christmas presents they are for adoring friends!

Last chance to send your stamped.

Last chance to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leafet telling you how to make Christmas cards and lovely gift boxes from plain old white ones, and giving you ideas for unusual ways to wrap and seal Christmas gifts.

Christmas Box.

Sets, nicely tied in one large gift box, can really convey a great deal more personality than you think. You can match a tie with a handkerchief, for instance. Or harmonize a tie with a shirt. Or curf-links with a shirt. Or tie and socks. And if you think this a small gift, make up several sets and you'll find out that it isn't so small after all!

No wardrobe is really complete

No wardrobe is really complete without a simple black coat, which can be worn over any type or color of dress. It always looks amart and is suitable for so many occasions!

Tomorrow we hope you remember to look in The Sunday Post for the weekly Dare fashion letter. We're sure you'll enjoy it. Au revoir!

At a No Trump, a guarded King is practically sure to take a trick unless the Ace of the suit is on its left; but the King may be ruffed at a trump contract. Therefore, in No Trump an Ace is valued 4 and a King 3; a conservative mathematical relationship because at No Trump a King will take a trick more than 75-per cent of the times it is held. An "Error" Makes a "Hit"

"I won't pay for my advertisement in this morning's Post," said a store advertising manager, speaking over the phone at 9 A. M. on the day of publication. "It didn't get in the early edition and you also made an error in it.'

"Just a minute," replied the advertising manager of The Washington Post, "I have your copy and proof here. Your proof was returned to us at 6:20 P. M., more than four hours behind the deadline, and your corrections required an entire resetting. The word which you say is incorrect is scribbled on the edge of the paper. It's hard to tell just what it is meant to be, but it looks more like the way we have it. I'll bring it over for you to decide."

"Never mind; maybe it is my mistake," acknowledged the advertiser as he hung up.

A day or so later the identical advertisement was scheduled for another insertion in The Post without change in the disputed word.

'We're superstitious," replied the advertiser when this was brought to his attention. "We secured such good results from the first insertion we want to try it again. It might change our 'luck' if we changed the word."

Readers of The Washington Post have confidence in this newspaper and in the character of its advertisers. The power of a sales message presented to its intelligent audience is not lessened by a minor and recognizable error.

ital expenditures for these purposes, and this must be provided from industrial treasuries or most lergely by borrowings for capital investment. "Fourth, these borrowings depend upon the ability to obtain money at reasonable rates and in ready and adequate quantities.

"This situation has developed rapidly in the last few weeks, so that this assurance is present. This is shown by the Treasury refunding today of $325,000,000 at 3% per cent against its last borrowings at 4% per cent, not long ago. This is probably the most extraordinary change ever recorded in Treasury eperations between transactions.

"Fifth, that' industry, in being assured of available capital, requires then only vision and courage to proceed. These qualities were clearly evidenced in the presentation by industrial leaders yesterday." For here his assignment carried him to the then new Fox Theater in Detroit, where he opened the house and served with distinction for many weeks. He then moved on to still broader fields and assumed command of the conductor's stand in the new Fox Theater in Ps. Louis, Mo. It is many weeks. In spite of the many tempting offers Reginald Denny has received, it remained for a comparative newcome to the production field, Sono-Art Productions, to secure the services of this popular star so long with Universal. "Manifestly, confidence in the country's future and preparation for the constantly extending business, which inevitably comes from the activities of 120,000,000 energetic people warrants preparation for ultimately larger business.

"Industrial and business, judgment approved immediate expenditures that cheapen production and distribution costs."

Though 70 of the business leaders who assembled Thursday were named by the conference chairman to meet privately after the main gathering had adjourned, the prolongation late into the night of the general session prevented the smaller assembly from being effected.

From the conference membership so designated, it is expected that a large part of the new general committee for the contemplated industrial council will be selected. Practically all the participants in the gathering left Washington vesterday.

weeks. He then moved on to still broader fields and assumed command of the conductor's stand in the new Fox Theater in St. Louis, Mo. It is my understanding that, as happened in Philadelphia and here—and maybe elsewhere for all I know—Mr. Kornspan's relations with the musicians' union in St. Louis were not quite so happy as might have been desired.

The last that Wachington sources of information are able to report was an engagement of Mr. Kornspan by the St. Louis Municipal Opera Company as conductor. With the conclusion of that activity—which terminated many months ago, according to my information—the trail ends.

At any rate, that little stack of inquiries can't say I didn't try!

It has never been clear to me why tickets for a motion picture theater can not be bartered through the wicket of a regular inside box office as well as anywhere else, but it seems this is one of the things that just isn't done.

While dashing down Fifteenth street yesterday in a fine game of the are and hounds with the installment people I noticed that RKO-Keith's is in course of installing a regular movie ticket booth directly on the building line in the middle of the main en-

"After all, it is an ill wind that does not blow some good and I feel that this reaction in the stock marget, caused perhaps by imperceptible forces at work for months prior to the crash, will result in the building industry taking on new life and new activity.

"As a result of the crash, money is more readily available. Building constructors and contractors can borrow in large amounts at a lower and reasonable rate of interest. That will mean an impulse to building and, in my judgment, beginning with early spring, building will grow, and increase and expand. All of that will help business wonderfully."

"We announced," said he, "that it would be a panacea for unemployment. We said that if there were not enough work for men eight hours a day, then give them work at five and if they can not be given work at five, work should be divided so that all can work at least four hours a day. We must not have any large unemployment class in America. Our task is to find every man a job at a decent rate of pay and at a short work week and short hours so that he can really live.

His golden tone was at all times thi-rounded yet capable of the finest nuances of sound, fairy-like pianismos, cascades of trills and exquisite developed harmonics, giving almost new personality to the violin. In louble stopping the delightful precision and delicacles of tone were in termselves a special delight of the ancert, while an occasional pizziato movement or G string measures rought out other facets of the genius it this master player of a master instrument. Tone Full-Rounded.

True to his devoted adherence of the concerto, Kreisler included in pesterday's program Tschalkowsky's "Concerto in D Major" with its three lovely movements, an "Allegro moderato" which was a violin gem, an 'Andante" of haunting beauty and vivacious third movement. In Bach's "Chanconne" for violin lone Kreisler played exceptionally well without his able accompanist, whose understanding following of the Kreisler moods made up a considerable portion of the afternoon's chijoyment. The accompanist was Carl Lamson, who knows his difficult art from A to Z.

The audience was particularly enthusiastic over the Londonderry Air played to an arrangement by Kreisler. The quaint Irish air took on a new beauty and charm and its wistliness was apparent in every phrase. Kreisler's own "Gypsy Caprice" won ome of the greatest applause of the afternoon and the concluding number of the hotable program, "Fantasy on Russian Themes" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, arranged by Kreisler, was so vigorously applauded and appreciated that it led to the twelve final encores with which the artist was overwhelmed.

The lute is novel to most Washingtonians. Yesterday's concert demonstrated that in quartet the four lutes are utilized much the same as string instruments in quartets. Two of the quartet played small pearlands in the string quartet, while Senorita Aguilar, the only woman in the quartet, played a larger lute, the viola of the quartet, and the fourth member played the largest lute, similar to a cello.

WHEN STOCKS SOAR

General Electric's 4-for-1 Split-Up Engenders Enthusiasm.

RETAIL BUSINESS GOOD

New York, Dec. 6 (A.P.).—The flames of speculative enthusiasm, fanned by the 4-for-1 split-up of General Electric stock, leaped up anew in today's stock market, reaching new beights for the postcrash period.

The recasting of the capital structure of such a premier industrial enterprise as General Electric, projected at this time, was regarded in many quarters as conclusive evidence of the faith of Wall street's powerful banking interests in the revival of the stock market.

Furthermore, this action was widely interpreted as foreshadowing the aplitting up of several other leading high-priced stocks sponsored by the Morgan interests. Although the economic value of stock splittups as been the subject of considerable criticism, particularly during the recent market arists, Wall street knows from experience that splitups tend to broads the market for stock and lead to larger dividend payments, and an announcement of one seldom fails to snegender bullish enthusiasm.

Upsurge Follows Announcement.

Upsurge Follows Announcement.

The market showed considerable esistancy during the early transactions, but soon pointed upward, and with the General Electric announcement an upsurge in leading stocks of under way, carrying scores of hares up from 2 to nearly 25 points. Ittite profit taking appeared in the inal transactions, but failed to make srious inroads into the day's gains. Otal sales were 4.714,800 shares, a ew high level since the recent reurn of normalcy.

Business news was of a moderate-favorable character. Julius H. Sarnes, chairman of Presidnt Hoover's newly organized economic council, warned against "excessive opmism." The American Iron and seel Institute estimated that steel got production in November sank a new low level for the year, mills serating at 68.90 per cent of rated pacity, compared to 87.05 per cent the same period of 1928. This, wever, had been largely discounted. The weekly trade reviews pointed a large volume of retail trade, aprently larger than that of last year this time. Wholesale trade and anufacturing activity, however, restined upsered to have improved considerity. Dividend rates were increased a Allis-Chalmers and Reynolds To-200.

New Treasury Offering Pleasing.

Money rates were slightly firmer, hough the new Treasury financing 3½ per cent, the lowest in two one, offered gratifying evidence of a complete return to normalcy in many conditions in the past two others.

resterday's increases of one-eighth 1 per cent in bankers' acceptance is by two dealers were accepted the general trade today. Calloney held officially at 4½ per cent, d time money, while extremely duli, so nominally quoted a little higher 4½ per cent flat. Seneral Electric shot up nearly 25 nts to 257, and closed at 254. At top it was nearly 90 points above 1 low reached a few weeks ago, ited States Steel, after fluctuating certainly during the major part of session, surged up more than 7 ints to 172 in the last hour.

ines in commercial transactions r the week ended November 30, from the preceding week as well as the similar week last year, were announced yesterday by the Department of Commerce in its weekly summary of business conditions, the recession being reflected by the sayments.

While the general index of wholesale prices showed a fractional gain over the previous week, it was more than 5 per cent below the level of last year. Business failures, however, were less numerous than in either the previous week or the same week of 1928. The Potomac Savings Bank, uniformly successful since its original incorporation, has been particularly fortunate during the past year, according to announcement of B. A. Bowles, vice president.

Potomac Savings Bank Data.

Directors at a recent meeting agreed o recommend to stockholders at their teeting, December 10, that the par alue of stock, which is now selling t about $350 a share, be changed walue of stock, which is now selling at about $350 a share, be changed from $100 to $20 and that a stock dividend of 40 per cent be declared. This, of course, is in addition to the regular semiannual 5 per cent dividend, being a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, which, with the stock dividend, would make stockholders receive a dividend of 50 per cent for the year 1929.

It is virtually certain that this proposition will be approved by the stockholders. The new stock would be exchanged, five shares of the new stock for one share of the old, and together with the two shares given as dividend would receive seven shares of the new stock in place of one of the old. This would give the bank a capitalization of $140,000 instead of $100,000, all of which is earned and none paid in by the stockholders, and undivided profits of between $40,000 and $50,000.

ecent increased buying activity and her prices for bonds indicate that long expected turn in the bond exet is at hand according to the ember investment review of Lawce Stern & Co, investment bankers Chicago and New York.

Says Bond Dealers Optimistic.

"Among the factors tending toward optimism upon the part of bond dealers," said the review, "is the large decline in large offerings, which creates a scarcity value for good bonds. This decline probably reached its culmination in November, when the smallest volume of new offerings for the past five years was registered."

The review stated that the total volume of new stock, bond and note

The review stated that the total volume of new stock, bond and note financing publicly offered in November, aggregated only $178,237,275. This figure represents a decline of 77 per cent from last month's buge volume of $761,134,348, and is 80 per cent believe the record-breaking total registered for November, 1928.

ferred stock featured the trading in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange. Eighty-five shares in teven blocks were exchanged during sthe trading. The stock came out at 109, 6½-point gain, 5 shares transferring at this figure. Thirty shares sold at 108.½, 10 at 108½, 10 at 108½ and 10 at 108½ and 10 at 108. Sixty shares of Capital Traction also changed hands at 75½, fractional rise.

All other issues in trading sold in small lots with the exception of National Mortgage & Investment preferred, with 40 moving at 3½, last sale price. The stock turnover, 251 shares, was 539 behind Thursday's, and bond sale volume, 44, 100, marked a $1,900 recession from the preceding day.

$1,113,439,327 Rail Income.

Class I railroads in the first 10 months this year had a net railway operating income of $1,113,439,327, which was at the annual rate of return of 5.19 per cent on their property investment, according to reports just filed by the carriers with the Bureau of Railway Economics and made public yesterday. In the first 10 months of 1928 their net railway operating income was $986,170,768, or 4.66 per cent on their property investment.

Eugene E. Thompson, of Crane, Parris & Co., this city, will serve on the 1929-30 Federal taxation committee of the Investment Bankers Association of America, it was revealed yesterday in the announcement of the association's committee personnel by Trowbridge Cailaway, Cailaway, Flsh & Co., New York, president.

In an effort to secure greater compatiness, and efficiency, the personnel of the association's 22 standing committees and 4 sub-committees for the current year has been reduced aubstantially. Whereas in 1928-29 there were 353 names on the committee list, the appointments for the current year number but 270.

New Gas System Proposed.

Commenting on a proposed $40,000.-000 project to carry natural gas from West Virginia to the Eastern Sea-board by the Columbia Gas & Elec-tric Co., and whereby Washington, Richmond, Norfolk and other cities

Richmond, Norfolk and other cities would be served, local financiers said yesterday that in the event natural gas should ever be brought here, it would have to be sold to the Washington Gas Light Co., and distributed through its mains, no rival company being allowed to lay rival mains.

While this is not the first time such foregoing company, the United Gas Improvement Co., the American Waterworks & Electric Co. and other large utility systems also mentioned as interested, have much more money than has been controlled by other systems.

Convertible Group Prices Rise: Treasury Offers Are Optimistic Aid.

FOREIGN ISSUES UNEASY

for bonds tapered off with the approach of the week-end today. The market was able, however, to hold its recent gains, and nearly twenty new highs for the year appeared, although prices moved narrowly.

Announcement of the Treasury's new financing, which embraces $825 .- . 000,000 in 31/2 per cent certificates and 100,000 in 3% per cent certificates and si00,000,000 in the new Treasury bills, was accompanied by a broad advance in the listed Government issues, most of which touched new highs for 1929. Only one security, the long-term Liberty 31%s, are now selling at a discount, and these closed today at 92.21. The rate on the forthcoming certificates was lower than had been The rate on the forthcoming certificates was lower than had been forecast and reflected the sharp reduction in money charges since the September financing, which bore 4% per cent coupons.

New Federal Issues Interest.

The Government's experiment with the noninterest bearing bills is being cles, for this is the first time the means, which is in use in England.

bills are to be sold at a discount for cash only, the price to be fixed by competitive bidding. This method is regarded as an interesting adventure because it will, provide the market with a volume of Treasury bills at various maturities which corporations may find even more attractive for short-term investments than the quarterly issues of Treasury certificates. Bankers pointed out that the bills, as they become familiar and as the volume increases might be expected to pass much as currency.

Railroad bonds traded in the lightest volume of the week, and there was a suggestion of easiness in the group as a result of the smaller inquiry. New highs developed in Canadian National 4½s. Chesapeake & Onlio refunding 4½s. Erie general 4s and convertible 4s. Missouri Kansas, Texas prior lien 4s. Nickel Plate 4½s. New Haven 3½s and St. Louis Southwestern consolidated 4s.

Industrials Display Strength. Industrials displayed the best strength and 1929 maximums were scored on small dealings in Liggett & Myers Tobacco 5s, Midvale Steel 5s and United Biscuit of America 63. Utilities were dull.

The advance in stock prices resulted in rising quotations for the convertibles. American Telephone 4½s turned over above the $2,000.000 mark for a net gain of 2½s points. International Telephone 4½s rose a point. Tesas Corporation 5s and Dileago & Northwestern 4¾s, both setive, traded within narrow price langes. The foreign section was dull and pregular

Baseball men were much interested in the possibility of Havana and Miami becoming members of the Southeastern League. Members of the national board of arbitration suggested that the effort to bring the Cuban city into baseball in the United States might be a problem on account of transportation difficulties. The board refused to grant a modified contract to Havana or to give clubs authority to discipline players who might refuse to travel by auplane to fill baseball engagements. The entry of Miami was approved.

Members of the board said that they had great faith in the possibilities of Havana for baseball, but did not believe its entrance into the Southeastern League could be satisfactorily concluded at this time. Club

Some football coaches depend on the pathos of the human voice to stir the emotions of their players to extra efforts by making speeches between the halves. They may do that at Tulane, but the Greenbacks, in addition to the words of wisdom failing from the lips of their coach, get a stimulant from the trainer as well. Monk Simons gives the players cups of steaming. black coffee between the halves. Those who have ben privileged to dine in New Orleans know that there are few places where the home folk drink their coffee stronger.

None other, and all prettied up, than RED-CLIFFE from Black Dot Stable. This trick was given a final prep down at Bowle and today is the day. RUANE in all probability will rule a stout favorite with COMET and SANFORD close up. The latter was in the can the day he met Equation. Personally, I like to string along with this wise kale—it talks so loudly.

In the day's opener, the boys are unanimous, woteverinell that is, that FLYING AMBASSADOR will be first past the judges' stand. Is very fit horse, and stable is down hook, line and sinker. Such is the comment appended. You have the answer in your lily white duke.

Limited to Four Classes

New York, Dec. 6 (A.P.).—Delegates to the North American Yacht Racing Union today approved the executive committee's recommendation that yacht racing during the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles be restricted to four classes of boats. The union announced that Olympic competition would be for 6 and 8 meter and international starr class boats and in a monotype class, that is, boats sailed by one man. Decision on all Olympic matters pertaining to yacht racing had been turned over to the North American Union by the American Olympic committee.

Clifford D. Mallory, of New York, was reelected president of the union.
New members of the committee will be George H. Duggan, of Montreal, and Dr. Albert Soiland, Los Angeles.

CELTICS PAD FOR HAWK BATTLE

Groves Joins Alexandria Eleven for Tomorrow's Clash.

crack at the District unlimited title regained last Sunday at the expense of the Mohawks, provided the Virginians take the measure of the Mohawks tomorrow when they meet in a return game in the Georgia avenue hall park at 2 o'clock.

Rube Hayman, coach and full back, and Manager Charley Corbett, of the Cetics, have taken Hall at his word. They have sought out the best material they could find to close the weak gaps in the Cetic line-up and are coming back to avenge a 8-7 setback handed their pets two weeks ago. "The Apaches were lucky to beat the Mohawks were mighty lucky to beat us two weeks ago." is the way Corbett sums up the situation. He is confident that the revamped Celite squawill not only trounce the Hawks the smooth-running Apache machine, which will go to Baltimore tomorrow.

By R. J. ATKINSON.

DUCKPIN bowling has rapidly stepped to the fore in Washington and vicinity within the past few years. A business aggregating approximately $1,000,000 annually has been built around the little pin game in this section, J. William Wood, manager of the Meyer Davisenterprises, has estimated.

pin bowling has advanced from an in-fant enterprise to unexpected propor-tions. At present there are 350 alleys in Washington and an additional 100 in nearby Maryland and Vignia, the Meyer Davis manager's figures show. These slieys have to do a minimum business of $800,000 in order to meet overhead expenses. It is his modest estimate that these same alleys at least show $200,000 profit.

4,500,000 Games Rolled

He further estimates that a minimum of 4,500,000 games are bowled on these 450 alleys each year. Records over a period of several years show that the person entering an establishment rolls an average of four games. On this basis he estimates that approximately 1,150,000 visits are made to these alleys during the course of a season.

to these slleys during the course of a season.

Arville L. Ebersole, secretary of the Washington City Duckpin Association, estimates that there are 10,000 persons bowling in leagues in Washington alone, including both men's and women's leagues.

Although the increase in number of new alleys in the District and nearby suburban towns has moticeably affected the patronage of the local establishments, the interest in the duckpin game is continually increasing.

The growth of the duckpin game in the Capital and vicinity has attracted the attention of many investors, with the result that new bowling establishments are being planned here, and Southern capital has been attracted into the new field opened last year through Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia.

The National Duckpin Bowling Congress, organized here two years ago on the strength of the vast popularity of the small pin game, has been largely instrumental in carrying the game into other sections. Washington proved a successful proving grounds for the sport, and it now promises to become one of the most extensive amusement businesses along the Eastern seaboard.

Preparations for the installation of a 16-alley establishment in Takoma Fark are now under way, and a 12-alley project at Fourteenth and Decatur streets northwest has been under consideration for some time. Title Encounter of Prep Schools.

WHEN Gonzaga's Purple Eleven lines up against Jim McNamar's Devitt Prepmen at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon in the Griffith Stadium. It will be going into the annual clash between these two schools for the prep school championship of the city with the intent of accomplishing something that neither of the rivals has been able to do since starting their traditional series in 1924.

Fot, although each eleven has been returned victorious an equal number of times in the four games played, neither team has aucceded in winning the game two years in succession. And having conquered Devitt last year, Orrell Mitchell's charges could break the "one-year jim" which seems to hover over the contestants, by taking the Devitt Eleven into camp this afternoon, besides giving the Purple an edge in the series which now stands at two-all.

However, Gonzaga will be battling against more than "jim" when it faces its opponents this afternoon, for even without this historic fact behind it, it would still be the under dog in the all-important match today. Based on the records of the two rivals for the current season. Devitt seems to hold a slight balance in the matter of odds, having accord decisively over some of the best scholastic teams around the city. Its latest feat, the 19-to-0 defeat of Central, established it as a strong favorite to cop today's clash.

Fighting Gonzaga

Team Ready.
Nowithstanding the dope which points to a Devitt victory. Gonzaga's cohorts will go on the field this afternoon with nothing but fight and an eagerness to meet its foe. Although not boasting the high-class victims of its rival, the Mitchell-coached team has scored over all but one of its opponents this year and asems to be in no mood to have its brilliant record blemished today. With,the exception of the Catholic University Freshman Team which scored a 24-6 victory over Gotzaga, students of that school cam point to a perfect record. Another item which should urge the two teams to put forth their best stand today is the fact that all but 3 of the 22 players will be playing their last football game for their respective aims maters. Rose, Devitt center, and two Gonzaga players, Duncan, end, and Shipman, tackle, will be the only players who will ever play again in a prep school uniform. Probably the greatest amount of interest today will settle on the performances of the two back fields, both of which are made up of some of the niftiast ball carriers in local scholastic ranks.

Keefe to Show His

Keefe to Show His

Stuff Today.

Undoubtedly the greatest of them all is Tom Keefe, sensational haif back of Devitt, who was only uncovered for the first time against Central nine days ago. But the way he tore through the Blue and Whitz line thoroughly convinced local fans that he is the most sensational scholastic back field performer in the District this year, if not of all time. Either Georgetown's or Army's football team should be strengthened oy his services, to whose ranks he is re-ball team should be strengthened op his services, to whose ranks he is re-ported to be going within the year. Along with Keefe, Abramson, Ber-nard and Capt, Knott are expected to shine for Devitt in order to avenge the Gonzaga defeat of a year ago Knott, especially, must be watched by the Purple, having exhibited triple-threat qualities throughout his team's season.

Although undoubtedly brilliant, this quartet will not possess so much of an edge over the Gonzaga back field, which, with Bussink, Freund, McVean and Brew, can exhibit a well-balanced foursome, which has made trouble for all of its opponents this year.

Of Susquehanna Five Special to The Washington Post.

Selinsgrove, Pa., Dec. 6.—Susquehanna started basketball practice last night with a squad of 25 men reporting to Coaches Ullery and Henzes. Among these men were a trio of veterans left over from last year's team. Glenn and Rummel, both forwards, and Steinman, a guard from this group, and it is around these three men the 1930 varity will be built.

Finding a center capable of filling the rather largely proportioned shoes of long Tom Dixon is Ullery's main problem, and if it is solved, the main barrier will be passed. To fill this post, Shaffer, a product of South Williamsport, is well liked, but Palmer, Gerhart and Dreibelbis will give him a hard battle. Dreibelbis in particular is a coming prospect, for he has the physical qualifications and needs, but the polish of experience to be a finished product.

The Tarheels face this crucial battle, which will sliso determine whether they are to set the scoring records for which they have fought so valiantly and successfully all season, with a question mark written boldly across their back field.

Jim Magner, scoring ace, and Pete Wyrick, veteran quarter, are just recovering from injuries that have kept them benched for three weeks, and are in none too good shape now. Rip Slusser and Chuck Erickson, speedy right half backs, have a broken nose and finger, respectively, from this week's scrimmage that may keep both stars out.

Blacksburg. Va., Dec. 6.—Henry Virgil ("Bird") Hooper, triple-threat quarter back of the Gobblers for two years, was chosen captain-elect of the 1930 Virginia Polytechnic Institute Football Team at a banquet of the lettermen last night.

At V. P. I. the new leader is called "the spark plug of the Gobbler back field." He does the kicking, much of the passing and, despite the fact that he seldom carries the ball, came through with several runs ranging from 20 to 40 yards.

This year, as a field general, the new captain-elect is rated one of the best to pilot V. P. I.'s team in a score of years. Hooper is a graduate of the Newport News, Va., and has one of the Newport News, Va., and has one of the highest scholastic averages in his class at V. P. I. He piloted the undefeated freshman team of 1927 to the State title and has missed only a few minutes from the varsity line-up in two years. Now Berlin Favorite Berlin, Dec. 6 (A.P.) .- Musical critparts of Germany indicate that Clyde Burrows, of Mystic, Conn., and New York, former baseball star, now lyric tenor, made an unusually favorable impression during his first concert tour of Germany.

Incidentally, he had no more ardent well wisher during this first attempt to sing himself into the hearts of the Germans than Gene Tunney, who is a pal of Burrows.

What the critics, with almost one accord, emphasize is that Burrows' interpretations are one of his strongest points. This, the Dresden Nachrichten speaks of his "intense and remarkable interpretation." The Berlin Jungdeutsche observes "Burrows ascends to the very highest peak in ascends to the very highest peak in interpretation." The Berlin Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung refers to his "re-fined, heart-touching interpretations." Routs Charlotte Hall

Snarling Panthers Now Turn to Cage Game Totals.... 9 4 22 Totals.... 7 2 16 Pittaburgh, Dec. 6 (A.P.).—The Pitt Panther is preparing to smarl on the basket ball court with the same ferco-ity that carried the Golden Cat through an undefeated season on the gridiron.

Led by the brilliant Charley Hyatt

Led by the brilliant Charley Hyatt and with only Jerry Wunderlich, captain of last year's quintet, lost by graduation, the Panther offers much the same potentialities that carried Pittsburgh University through undefeated two seasons ago.

Pitt is entering upon a schedule that carries opposition of the Middle West, the Big Ten and the East.

Hyatt and Zehlus, forwards, regulars from last season, are among the speedlest and tricklest in the East.

Ten Grid Players Lost To Martinsburg High

To Martinsburg High
Special to The Washington Post.
Martinsburg. W. Va., Dec. 6.—Ten members of this year's Martinsburg High School Football Team will be lost to the Orange and Black by graduation next June. The group is composed of Capt. Alonzo Karnes, Jack Beavers. Ernest Weller, Donald Lindsay, Douglas Meyers, James Dean, Gray Silver, Gilbert McKown, Ralph
James and Lewis Davis.

George Mullan, Orange and Black mentor, has announced that next year's captain will be chosen at a banquet to be tendered the 1929 squad in the near future.

How to Keep Well

To the limit of space questions per- | dered by the physician. Nevertheless. to the limit of space questions per-taining to hydrene and prevention of disease will be answered in this col-umn. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is in-closed. Dr. Mons will not make diag-nosis or prescribe for individual dis-ease.

RACE OF BEARD AND RAZOR. W HILE this is not a beauty col-umn and no claim for erudi-tion in this field is made, physicians occasionally discover something by accident or design which may interest the pulchritudinous.

Dr. Seymour investigated the effect of shaving on the rate at which the beard grew. He very carefully measured the length of the removed beard hair. Exactly duplicating all parts of the shaving processes in two groups of experiments on the same man, he found that when shaving was done at intervals of sixteen hours the combined length of the cut hairs was spent much time cleaning and brush-ing the hair. Bobbed hair gets a lick and a promise, and in time baldness may be the penalty.

DIET FOR GALLSTONE VICTIM. Mrs. C. M. F. writes: Should a person suffering with gallstones be on a special diet? If so, what?

intervals of sixteen hours the combined length of the cut hairs was about one and a half times as great as when shaving was done at intervals of 41 to 50 hours. Or, more simply put, shaving twice a day caused the rate of growth of the heard to speed up about 50 per cent. Dr. H. Sharlit reviewed the evidence in this case and drew some conclusions from it. A hair grows at its base or so-called root and the new growing part pushes the older part before it. This push or lift uses up some of the energy of the growth cells. As the length of the hair increases, this energy requirement becomes a factor in retarding growth. Long hair grows more slowly than short.

This line of thinking caused Dr. Sharlit to consider the cells of the skin and of the hair and grease follicles in relation to baidness and health of the scalp, as well as to the growth of the hair. We know very little about the reasons for baidness outside of certain inheritance factors. He thinks the whole mass of hair tonics and scalp remedies are of no service of themselves. However, all the washing, cleaning and brushing before applying them and while doing so is of service in curing those skin troubles out of which much of the baldness develops.

It is the use of the medicine and not the medicine itself which does the good. He says the doctor preseribes a hair or scalp tonic, the druggist fills the prescription and the patient applies it. On the other hand, the operator of a beauty parlor when ash tackles the job washes the hair and scalp, applies the remedy herself, and does it with much rubbing and brushing. Her treatments are much more expensive than the service ren-

Preliminary hearing of William Rawlings, 24 years old, of Bethesda, Md., in connection with the death of John Paul Good, of Capitol Heights, Md., was continued until next Priday after testimony of two State witnesses, yesterday in Upper Mariboro branch of Prince Georges County Police Court. Postponement was asked by States Attorney J. Frank Parron to enable the summoning of several important witnesses.

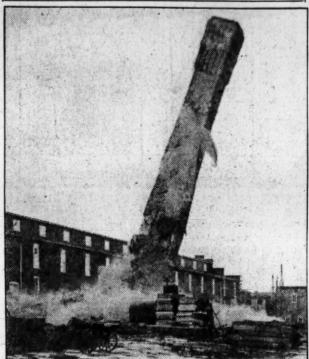

county Police Court. Postponement was asked by States Attorney J. Frank Parron to enable the summoning of several important witnesses. The witnesses, George Edward Long. 57 years old, and Minnie Geislin. 43 years old, both of Washington, were passengers in a taxicab alleged to have been driven by Rawlings, which struck and fatally injured Good Tuesday night. Both claimed that they know nothing of the accident.

An inquest into the death, held by a coroner's jury under the direction of Justice of the Peace Weast at Capitol Heights, found that Good had come to his death as the result of having been struck by a taxicab driven in a reckless manner by a driver unknown. Rawlings admitted that he was the driver of the death cab and declared that he had failed to stop because his permit had expired. Prince Georges County police asserted.

Sealed bids for an issue of school bonds totaling $207,000 will be opened at noon Tuesday by the Prince Georges County Board of Education in the board office at Upper Marlboro. RITCHIE DENIED USE JUDGING COMPLETED OF BOSTON TEMPLE AT LIVE STOCK SHOW Elevated Lines Ban Cards Reserve Champion Sells a Advertising Speech on Prohibition Law.

Special to The Washington Post.

Boston, Dec. 6.—The Liberal Civic League today announced that the use of Tremont Temple for Gov. Albert C. Ritchie's speech on prohibition here Tuesday night has been denied, and that officials of the Boston elevated lines—will not allow signs advertising the Ritchie meeting to be displayed on their cars.

The temple that has been closed to the Ritchie meeting is a popular open forum meeting place, and it is believed this is the first time that its use has been denied for a public meeting.

F. P. Plympton, superintendent of the building, in his letter denying the use of the temple to the Liberal Civic League, which is sponsoring the visit of Gov. Ritchie to Boston, stated that he is "convinced that the clientele of Tremont Temple would wholly disapprove of permitting the use of the hall for such a purpose" as the Ritchie meeting.

Subject Thought Controversial.

The board of trustees of the Boston elevated lines, in explaining their refusal to allow cards advertising the Ritchie speech to be displayed on their cars, said they believe the subject of Gov. Ritchie's proposed address to be "highly controversial."

It also became known that Governor's evening meeting nor the lunchon at which he will be a guest of honor at midday. Both declined their invitations to the affairs, pleading previous engagements.

They will, however, greet Gov. Ritchie when he arrives here early Monday morning to be the guest of the Liberal Civic League. Arrangements have been made for Gov. Ritchie to deliver his prohibition speech in Symphony Hall.

A LITTLE groggy from a long, hard day downtown, tired and wornout from the journey home, standing up in the bus, what I longed for more than anything else was a good nap in front of the open fire.

"T'm glad you got home at last," said Luella, by way of welcome, "T're got some curtains for you to hang."

"Curtains? Certainly. I'll fix "em to be atticed and get out the electric light bulbs—"

"Why get out the prettiest house in washington at Christmas time."

"You'll hang these now, right away, or you'll get no dinner," washer ultimatum.

There was no arguing, we—or at least I—had to hang the curtains, It seems that Luella had heard President Hoover's apeech before the United States Chamber of Commerce, the one where he dragged forth what he calls that "good old word—work."

The this administration is going to work, and nothing but work," I told Luells, "it's about time we took a trip abroad"

"So," she snapped, "that's it. When I wanted to go to Europe, you talked me out of it. Now that President Hoover wants us to go to work, you want to go to Europe. What kind of an American are you, anyway?"

"I'm the kind of American," I pleaded, who likes to live up to the old tradition, eight hours for sleep, eight hours for work, and eight hours for play. You know, all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

"And now that the curtains are hungs—" she started, but I hailed her on a technical point.

"Now that they are hanged, Luella. That's infinitely better grammar. Hanged—not hung!"

Here in the morning."

And how much is the prize?"

Crestfallen, I made for the lounge. "Speaking of work," I told her, "I'll have to get a job as night watchman in a bank, or something, if we keep on going in for prizes."

"That'll make a hit with President Hoover," she flashed. "He likes to see men work."

"He does."

"He does."

"He does."

"He does."

"He does."

"He does."

"That ire's going down," she remarked, "suppose you go out and get another log. Ob! I forgot. You'll have to split one—and while you're about it, you'd better sharpen the ax."

There is, it seems, no rest for the weary.

months of 1929 than in the corresponding period of 1928, Dr. W. A. Piecker, State registrar of vital statistics, said today.

The State birth rate, which has been decreasing noticeably since 1921, probably will reach a new low level this year, he stated.

Describing the situation as "alarming," Dr. Piecker said that Virginia's decrease was in line with the national rate, which has shown a decided drop since the World War. Health authorities, he stated, attributed the decrease to increased costs of living and a more general knowledge of birth-control methods. A fact which continues to concern scientists, he added, is that the "underprivileged" are still having large families, while the "well-to-do" have few children or none at all.

Dr. Plecker, in reviewing birth rates in the 1929 report of the State Department of Health, now on the press, stated that the higher birth rates were to be found generally west of the Blue Ridge Mountains and the low rates in Virginia tidewater sections.
